He Charges Speaker Crisp With Be traying the Silver Men.

Bitter Recrimination Between Democra Leaders in the House-The Speaker's Reply to Bland's Accusa.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—[By the Associated Press.] The silver men have understood that a special order bringing in a closure rule would be reported to the House tomorrow, and have telegraphed to all their men to be in the House tomorrow. This morning Speaker Crisp informed them that no special order would be brought in unless a majority of the Democratic members a majority of the Democratic members of the House sign a petition asking for a closure rule. Speaker Crisp was asked by an Associated Press reporter this morning if the report were true that the order would not be brought in unless the majority of the Democrats signed a petition.

"That's my intention."

"Then the silver bill will never be brought to a vote!" queried the reporter.

"I don't know that that follows," re-"I don't know that that follows," replied the Speaker. "They had a two-thirds majority of the Democrats and may get a majority to sign the petition."

Messrs. Bland, Pierce and other sil-er men were seen. Mr. Bland was ery downcast over the news that he JOHN T. GRIFFITH— (Successor to Allin & Snyder,)

Mr. Pierce was a little more confident, but he and Mr. Bland said they would have nothing to do with the circulating of any more petitions. One of the other silver men, however, attempted to get signers to a petition of the nature suggested by the Sperker, but met with poor success, for twenty-five of the men who have heretofore young for the silver bill refused to give voted for the silver bill refused to sign it. Among the number were Mr. Comp-ton of Maryland, who not only declined to sign the petition, but gave notice that if any closure resolution is brought in he will vote against it.

The silver question is an issue of the past as far as the House is concerned. The developments of today clearly indi-cate that the closure will not be invoked by the Committee on Rules to assist the free coinage people in forcing a final vote on the passage of the bill and with-out such decree all resources of parliamentary law will be powerless to resur-rect it. It was not until the House had met and passed to the consideration of met and passed to the consideration of uninteresting routine business today that Speaker Crisp finally announced that the Committee on Rules would not deem proper to report rules preventing filibustering and forcing a vote unless a majority of the Democratic members should sign a petition demanding, arbitrary procedure. Mr. Bland was quite indignant and insisted upon the rule, but the Speaker was obdurate. Pierce but the Speaker was obdurate. Pierce and others at once began the circulation of a petition, but thus far it has not se-cured more than forty or fifty Democratic signatures. BLAND ASSAILS THE SPEAKER.

Mr. Bland this afternoon made a statement to an Associated Press reporter. He said when the rule was first reported setting apart three days for consideration of the Silver Bill he in-sisted that the rule should be a continu-ing order, to be considered from day to day until disposed of, knowing that the three days could be filibustered out. Speaker Crisp replied that we ought to trust the Committee on Rules in that matter: that, if three days were flibus tered out without disposing of the bill, the Committee on Rules would report a rule preventing flibustering motions and compelling a vote.

'On the night of the last day's debate,' continued Mr. Bland, 'friends of the bill determined to continue in session to prevent the lapse of the legis-lative day. I, myself, Pierce and others went to Speaker Crisp and asked whether he thought the filibustering had proceeded long enough to satisfy the House and country that the Comthe House and country that the Committee on Rules would be warranted in reporting a rule by which all filibustering motions would be prevented and bring the House to a direct vote on the bill. He assured us he thought filibustering had gone on long enough to demonstrate the fact and the Committee on Rules would report a rule to bring the bill to a vote. On Friday I went to the Rules would report a rule to bring the bill to a vote. On Friday I went to the Speaker's room, and Mr. Orisp advised the introduction of a rule to be voted on today (Monday) preventing all filibustering motions and compelling a vote upon the bill. He sat down and wrote out the rule himself. I introduced it at his request and had it referred to his committee with the distinct understanding quest and had it referred to his committee with the distinct understanding that the rule would be reported today. I never heard anything about his wanting a petition of the majority of Democrats until this morning, when we ought to have been voting upon the order itself. A telegram in the New York Herald this morning, stating that the correspondent had information from the highest authority that Speaker Crisp would exact the petition before acting upon the rule, was the first intimation I had of anything of that character. When we found the attitude of the Speaker changed it created confusion and consternation among the free coinage advocates. They felt that they had been deceived and were disappointed by the action of the Speaker. The fact that the Speaker himself has changed his attitude toward the measure and deceived its friends caused a great many free coinage people to weaken, and I see at this time little hope of getting a majority of members on the petition asking that the rule be reported." SPEAKER CRISP'S DEFENSE.

Speaker Crisp, when shown Mr. Bland's statement this evening, said he was surprised Mr. Bland should so far was surprised Mr. Bland should so far have forgotten himself and the true situation as to endeavor to mislead the public by such statements. In justifying his position Mr. Crisp said that when the rules were being considered he, in caucus, pledged the party that no rule would be reported prohibiting filibustering or cutting off dilatory motions, except at the request and desire of a majority of Democratic members of Congress. The majority of Democratic requested that a time be fixed for consideration of the Free Coinage Bill, but making no reference therein to any change of the rules. In response the committee permitted three days. The Speaker said that as well as he recollected Mr. Bland did want to incorporate a limitation of the right of the House to filibuster or wanted a continuing order, but the committee determined that until the necessitation of the relation of the right of the Nouse to filibuster or mittee determined that until the neces mittee determined that until the neces-sity for such a rule was demonstrated they would not report it. The bill was taken up and debated for three days and finally saved from the table by the casting vote of the Speaker. Mr. Crisp said this tie vote was a great surprise to all parties, because when the original order was made it when the original order was made it was generally understood that the majority in favor of free coinage was 30 to 40. A majority of Democrats voted against tabling the bill, and thereby demonstrated its possible passage. Speaker Crisp said that he assumed that these gentlemen were in favor of a rule which would bring them to a direct vote on the bill and prevent filibustering, and so believing he had said to Mr. Bland that he had no doubt the committee would report a rule. He also said to Mr. Bland that in his judgment there had been sufficient filibustering to demonstrate the impossibility of the passage of the bill without a rule to bring it to a direct vote. The Speaker also to a direct vote. The Speaker also drew the resolution introduced by Bland, still believing that those gentle-men who voted against tabling the bill men who voted against tabling the bill were in favor of forcing a direct vote upon the measure. But after that time the friends of the Silver Bill, as decided friends as Mr. Bland, said the Speaker, had come to him and said they didn't desire their vote against tabling the bill to be construed into a request that a rule prohibiting fillbustering should be reported; that while they favored the free coining of silver and wanted to vote for it they were opposed to any rule in a Democratic House which would cut off the right to fillbuster.

Speaker Crisp then defined the situation to be simply this: "If the majority of the Democrats in the House desire the Committee on Rules to make a report which will enable the House to come to a direct vote on the Silver Bill, and if

to a direct vote on the Silver Bill, and if to a direct vote on the Silver Bill. and if they signify that desire, the committee will make the report; if they do not so signify, the committee will understand that the majority do not desire it, and the responsibility will rest with the majority of Democrats in the House and not with the committee."

With reference to the Speaker's op-and not with the committee."

With reference to the Speaker's opposition to silver or his duplicity the Speaker said he had nothing to say except to recall that by his casting vote he himself prevented the bill from being tabled and to state that, as Representative from Georgia, he favors and will vote for the free coinage of silver.

Fearing trouble Deputy Marshals
Wearns and Tassman went to the reservation to investigate and found an alarming condition of affairs. They secretly arrested White Black and Burfalo Black, who claimed to be emissaries of the Indian Messiah and who are agitating Indians' rights. When the Indians heard of the arrests a dozen frenzied red men started in pursuit. but the marshals got safely away with their prisoners. They arrived here to-day and the Indians were placed un-der $1000 bonds and sent to Wichita for safe-keeping. The marshals state that the Indians are terribly in earnest, and threaten vengeance against the whites for depriving them of their lands. Couriers have been sent by the Paw nees to the lowas, Sacs and Foxes, Missouris and Kickapoos urging them to join the war. Reperts from these places state that a large number of In-dians are joining in the war dance. Two troops of the United States Cavairy which passed through here yesterday, are en route to the Pawnee reservation to quell the disturbance.

It is said that, taking it altogether, Lord Salisbury's note is satisfactory as indicating a good prospect for an amicable settlement of the questions at issue. Further correspondence will be precessary to settle the method of denecessary to settle the method of de-termining the character of damage

WELL RECEIVED.

The President and Senate Pleased With Salisbury's Note.

WASHINGTON, March 28 .- | By the Asociated Press. | Lord Salisbury's last communication to the President, stating the grounds upon which he consents to the new modus vivendi, was laid before the Senate this afternoon. In transmitting the paper to the Senate the President added to the formal letter the statement that Salisbury's reply was very satisfactory and he was pre-paring a suitable response. The charparing a suitable response. The char-acter of this response was indicated briefly in the President's letter as being a substantial acceptance of Lord Salis-bury's tender, with a few modifications that doubtless would be arranged without difficulty.

There can be no question that the reception of the communication has largely removed any doubt of favorable action of the Senate upon the treaty and, in fact, when an adjournment wa had it was the general belief that the treaty would be ratified tomorrow. Much of the debate today was devoted

Much of the debate today was devoted to the question of damages that might be awarded by the arbitrators for or against this country.

Senator George took a prominent part in discussing this point, and, fortified by a number of authorities, proceeded to address the Senate at length, the newest feature in the speech being eulogistic reference to President Harrison's attitude in the negotiations.

No specific prediction as to the amount of damages was attempted, but amount of damages was attempted, Senators familiar with the subject cited figures to show that the poachers secured 65,000 sealskins last year, which meant the destruction of 800,000 seals, inasmuch as only a small proper tion of the total numbers of seals killed at see are recoered, but it was believed that not more than 16,000 skins were taken in Bering Sea proper, and were taken in Bering Sea proper, and taking the Government valuation of $10 per skin, the damage we could rightfully claim for last year's opera-tions of the poachers would not be con-siderable. On the other hand, the losses sustained by the Canadian vessel owners, admitting that they were illegally excluded from the seal waters must have been much larger than our

MORE ENGLISH OPINION.

A London Paper Speaks Disparagingly of Salisbury's Diplomacy. LONDON, March 28 .- [By Cable and Associated Press.] The correspondence on the Bering Sea question printed here this morning, shows that Salisbury wrote Sir Julian Pauncefote, February 27, that he could not admit February 27, that he could not admit the correctness of Blaine's statement that England was responsible for the delay in settling the sealing dispute. He says that the modus vicendi was granted last year to prevent the entire destruction of the seals, but his government des not think such a measure necessary this year. Continuing, he says:

You are authorized to offer the Government of the United States the compromise suggested by the British government's commission. A speedy decision is necessary, as sealing vessels are already leaving port.

The Star, commenting on the Bering

The Star, commence, says:

The dispatches do not give Lord Salisbury the better of it. He has not been consistent. Mr. Blaine has. The Americans have behaved as if they genuinely desired to protect the seals; Lord Salisbury as though he was afraid of offending the Canadians, whose only desire is to catch TRAIN ROBBERS. A Skirmish Between Officers and Outlaws in Alabama.

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.,) March 28. the Associated Press.] Last night an attempt was made to rob a Louisville and Nashville passenger train three miles north of here. BIRTHDAY CELEBRATIONS Mrs. Jane Spalding celebrated her 75th birthday yesterday at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. S. H. C. Langworthy, No. 180 Grandin street, East Los Angeles. The venerably lady was surrounded by quite a host of chil-dren and grandchildren and friends, who assembled to wish her many happy

Miss Mary Dobinson celebrated her 14th birthday on Saturday. About forty young people, all of the gentler sex, visited the paternal residence and had the kind of merry time that is only known to childhood. Music, games, prizes, fun and innocent frivolity made a few hours pass delightfuily. Mrs. A. E. Messerly of East Seventh street was pleasantly surprised last Saturday evening by a party of friends who came to remind her of her birthday. The husband and daughter were in the secret, but Mrs. Messerly was completely surprised. Messerly was completely surprised.
An elaborate suppor was spread, some beautiful tokens of remembrance left and at a late hour the guests departed.

NOTES AND PERSONALS. Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Campbell are en-tertaining Cleveland friends.

Mrs. E. A. Otis and Miss Marian Otis leave for Redlands this morning on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. A. M. McPherron. Miss Mabel Brown of South Flower street, accompanied by relatives from Portland, Or., spent Sunday at San Diego.

Mrs. Simon Goldbaum of San Luis Rey is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Marks, No. 225 West Fifteenth

A pleasant social was given at East Los Angeles Saturday night, which was enjoyed by many prominent people of that section of the city.

Mrs. C. B. Woodhead of Buena Vista street accompanied her guest, Mrs. Hackedorn, to San Francisco, where she will spend a few days.

certain Washington street assessments was adopted:

In the matter of certain assessments on Washington street, heretofore reported on by the City Clerk and Street Superintendent, I have examined the matter and find no record of any agreement upon the part of the property-owners to move their respective fences back to the street line as established at the time of said assessment. In view of the fact, however, that many of the property-owners have conformed to the established line of said street, I would advise that all said certificates of sale in the Street Superintendent's omce be canceled where they apply to property which has conformed to said street line.

REALTH MATERS.

The following report was received from Health Officer McGowan:

At the west end of the Aliso street bridge and upon the south side is a nasty public nuisance created by parties unknown to us, who have for months been using these lots as a dumping ground for manure.

The present condition of this place is such as to seriously jeopardize the health of those living near it and very unpleasant for those obliged to pass by it. We think we can prevent any future trouble at this point by having the owners put up a fence across the front and rear of their lots, but would like to be allowed to spend not to exceed $75 in abating the present filthy and unhealthy condition of these lots.

Councilman Nickell moved that the

The Health Officer also reported as

I desire to call your attention to the fact that the present tenant of the Los Feliz ranch, a Mr. McCrea, is engaged in the occupation of stock raising and that the animals have access to the ditch from which the water delivered to the Second, Third and part of the Fourth wards is derived. It is estimated that about a mile of wire fencing upon one side only of the ditch will protect it from the contamination arising from the cattle. I recommend that through your Water Committee immediate action be taken upon the subject.

The report of the Board of Public The report of the Board of Public Works, as already published in The Times on Saturday, was adopted as read, with the single exception of the recommendation with reference to the Figueroa street paving ordinance, which led to a warm debate between Councilmen Tufts, khodes and Rees. The member from the Fifth finally moved that action be postponed for four weeks, but Councilman Summerland moved as an amendment that the matter be postponed indefinitely. Finally, however, upon motion of Councilman McGarry, the original motion was amended to two weeks and adopted.

E. H. Lamme, Esq., appeared on behalf of some of the property-owners on Pink street and asked the Council to suspend street and asked the Council to suspend the worke of grading that thorough fare temporarily on the ground that they were averse to the ten-foot cut on the apex of the hill and insisted upon the seven-foot cut they had asked for. It was decided to change the grade pro-vided all the property-owners signed the petition and the contractor offered no objection, and a stay of proceedings was granted meanwhile.

Afternoon Sessio The Council met at 2:15 o'clock with President Bonsall in the chair and a quorum present, when the special or-der for 2 o'clock, the hearing of protests against the allowance of the compensation charged by the commissioners for the widening of Seventh street

ers for the widening of Seventh street was called up.

The protest of G. A. Dobinson and others, as heretofore published in The Times, showing that the expenses had been increased $781.05, was read, also protests of S. C. Foy, Dolores C. Jackson, J. B. Lankershim, Isaac Norton and G. Pellissier, objecting to the confirmation of the report for various reasons, among them that the damages and benefits have not been equitably assessed and that the work has not been properly performed.

G. A. Dobinson first addressed the G. A. Dobinson first addressed the Council at some length on the protest filed by himself and others, stating that the protest was directed solely against the excessive charges made by the commissioners, which they asked to be reduced, as the Council had a right to do under the law.

cent. of the value of his improvements which had been taken.

The attorney for J. B. Lankershim, Henry O'Melveny, objected to the report for the reason that he had not been allowed a fair amount for the improvements taken, and, further, that his property had been undervalued in the awarding of benefits.

Frank Finlayson, attorney for Dolo-res C. Jackson, objected to the report for the reason that ten feet of ground had been taken for which no compensation had been given.

John Jones, as attorney for S. C. Foy, objected to the report for the reason that the expenses were entirely too high, and the award for damages inadequate, beside which the awards and asssments had not been adjusted equitably.

No further protestants desiring to speak, Councilman Nickell moved that the hearing of the protests be deferred for one week, and that in the mean-time the case be investigated by the Board of Public Works.

Frank C. Wood stated that he desired to see the street opened, and hoped no action would be taken that would stop matters.

Councilman Nickell's motion then passed, and the matter dropped. DEMANDS APPROVED.

Councilman Rees moved that whereas the Council had recommended certain expenditures for the parks, and the money appropriated was not sufficient for the purposes outlined, $5000 be transferred from the salary fund to the park fund to carry out these plans.

Councilman Rees briefly explained that the Park Commissioners had stated that with $5000 they could build the Elysian Park road, and also carry out plans of the Council. Councilman McGarry favored the $2000 for the Elysian Park, but he could not understand what the other $8000 was for. He wanted to under-tand this matter.

Councilman Tufts objected to spending $2000 for what he termed a burro ing $2000 for what he termed a burro trail over the hills of Elysian Park. In the first place, the city did not have the money to spend for this purpose, but if the money must be spent let it go into Westlake and East Side parks, and finish them up. As to the expenditure on Boyle Heights, that is a matter of honor and should be carried out, whether the city had the money or not. Councilmen Rees, McGarry and Rhodes favored the appropriation and Messrs. Summerland and Tufts opposed it and, after some further remarks and explanations, Councilman Tufts re-

The division was agreed to, and $2000 was appropriated for the Elysian Park road by a vote of 6 to 3, Messrs. Bonsall, Summerland and Tufts voting in the negative. The $3000 proposition was then voted down by a vote of 6 to 4, Mr. Alford changing his vote, but stating that if he found there was money enough for the schools he would vote for the appropriation.

Ex-Gov. NEWTON BOOTH is dying at his home in Sacramento from cancer, superinduced by excessive drinking and smoking. He was accounted, in his day, one of the brightest and most popular men who ever figured in California politics. While occupying the Governor's seat he was elected to the United States Senate and from the latter position he dropped into dissipation and obscurity.

THE Senate has passed a bill appropriating $18,750,000 for the improvement of the navigation of the Mississippi River and the protection of bottom lands from overflow. It has also passed a bill appropriating $1,745,816 for the completion of the canal and locks at the Cascades of the Columbia River, Oregon. Also a bill appropriating $2,860,356 for the construction of a boat railway across certain obstructions in the Columbia River. Meanwhile, San Pedro harbor is to come in for the munificent sum of $20,000.

ANOTHER "cold snap" seems to be upon us. There was a decided frost Sunday night in many portions of the Los Angeles Valley. Deciduous trees in full bloom or with the fruit just setting are caught in a bad plight and the fruit crop has undoubtedly suffered some damage. How much this damage is we have no means of knowing until there are further developments. The general storm movement which Foster predicted for the 28th seems to be upon us. In some of the upper portions of the State there was quite a fall of snow on Sunday, and, in other portions. rain. It will probably be several days before we may safely consider that our fruit crop is out of harm's way

RESIDENTS in the western hills will join most heartily in the recommendation of the Health Officer that the Citizens' Water Company should be required to fence its supply ditch so as to keep out the cattle, which now have free access to it. They will also join in the suggestion that, if there are any corrals or pig-pens drained into the ditch, they be removed, or conduits dug to take the drainage elsewhere. For several years past the water furnished by the Citizens Water Company has been abominable. Many consumers do not think of using it until it has been boiled and filtered to remove the impurities. Others buy Poland Rock water by the jug for drinking purposes. During the summer the ant water is especially had and now that the season is approaching, it stands the people in hand to inaugurate any reforms that will impure it. The quality can never be first-class as long as the supply is brought through miles of open ditch, subject to all sorts of contamination. The only sovereign remedy is a new system of water works.

SPAIN is seriously considering the subject of Cuban reciprocity with this country. It is declared in debate upor the question of ratifying the Cuban treaty that the admission of Cuban sugars on a level with the products of other countries constitutes no favor. It is. of course, easily shown by those in favor of the treaty that the preservation to Cuba of the markets of the United States has been almost the salvation of the Cuban planters. The op position is supposed to be in a measure the result of feeling in behalf of Chile. Cuba, the party most concerned, has very little to say in the matter. She is in a position that makes it necessary to have her affairs decided for her acros the ocean. The ratification of the treaty is not considered doubtful, but it is to be hoped that Spain will not add to the list of unfriendly manifestations that have recently confronted this country.

upon the "free ship" question, which is coming up again in Congress, the testimony of the surviving officers and seamen of the British ship Invertrossachs is pertinent. They are quoted by English newspapers as saying that the Invertrossachs, though a brand-new ves sel, was unseaworthy; that the rivets became loose in the first gale they met, and that they were constantly kept busy atching plates together until their raft was about to go down under them. This is English evidence, not that of prejudiced" Americans. Again, it is freely said in England that the great British cruiser Blake, which was built to rival our New York in speed, and has proved such a failure, is badly con-structed and hardly fit to encounter winter weather on the Atlantic. Yet there are many politicians, and some men who are not politicians, who hotly argue that the American merchant marine is languishing because our ships are built on the Kennebec or Delaware instead of on the Clyde.

Iron and Silver.

At one period of the world's history iron was a money metal. The Lacedæmonians and several contemporary peo ples coined it. Whether it became too cheap and plentiful, whether the rich people combined against it and finally ruled it out, or whether it passed away with other customs of its time, is not very definitely stated. But its use as coin was certainly discarded. Nations which have since flourished have used shells, leather, copper, tin, lead, nickel, aluminum, paper, land, slaves, cattle, silvet, gold and almost anything that came handy as a circulating medium, but we have no authentic record of a return to iron.

There is no question that any nation possessed of resources and credit might adopt iron as its coin metal, and, by protecting its stamp from counterfeit; by making its money a legal tender by law; by accepting it in payment of duties and taxes, and, finally, by making it redeemable in something else of value, would be able to introduce it as a circulating medium.

Aristotle says of money that "it exists not by nature, but by law." The value of any coin metal, as coin, is purely a matter of arbitrary determination. Intrinsically, what is there in gold to make it any more valuable than silver or zinc or lead or steel? In truth. gold is, intrinsically, less valuable than the metals just enumerated. It is only because the world has come to a common understanding that gold and silver are "precious metals," adaptable to coinage purposes, that they rank in value so high above other metals of like plentitude.

It seems now that silver is in great danger of losing this hold upon the commercial world and relapsing into a mere commodity. If this occurs its value will be determined simply by the demand for it in the arts and by the plentitude of supply. It will then go the way of iron among the Lacedæmon-

Is the civilized world ready to discard the larger half of its coin medium and resort to gold as its sole standard and representative of value? We can not bring ourselves to think so. The business of the commercial world is constantly enlarging and demands an extended, not a contracted, circulating medium. To suddenly reduce this medium by more than half means to precipitate wholesale disaster. It means the enhancement of the single standard etained by depreciati form of property. It means that the poverty and the poorer classes into beggary. It means that the present pos essors of gold in quantities shall be made veritable nabobs, owning the earth and the fullness thereof. Many people look upon the present struggle of the silver cause in Congress with comparative indifference, thinking that-it is a mere struggle of self-in terest between the owners of silver mines and the rest of the world. But they are sadly mistaken. It is the struggle of democracy against plutocracy. We are making history faster

Appearances now indicate that the silver bill pending before Congress will be defeated. While there are friends of silver in both parties, neither party has taken it up as a decided issue Many Democrats are trying to shirk the issue, because they are afraid of exciting the hostility of the goldbugs of the East. Even if the bill should pass the lower house, its fate in the Senate would be uncertain, and it would be sure of encountering a veto from the President. So it seems that the cause of silver is a forlorn hope at best, and if it goes down now there is no chance for it unless the people of the country may be sufficiently aroused to its impor tance to agitate it thoroughly, make party issue of it, and carry it forward eventual success. If such a reaction does not occur it is morally certain that the monomet alists will continue their aggressive measures, and they will never cease until they shall have deposed silver entirely as a coin metal. Then, if there is not some other circulating medium put forth to supply its place look out for the crash. The rich will become richer and the poor poorer on such a rapidly-sliding scale that the masses will stand aghast at the result. And then, fifty or 100 years hence, with iron, and gold alone is recognized as a money metal, what is to prevent another movement, inaugurated by the greatest nabobs, to swallow up the lesser nabobs? Why not then a movement to demonetize gold? It would be just as consistent as the present movenent to demonetize silver. The very ward they would be satisfied with nothing short of diamonds.

We do not believe that matters will ever come to such a pass as that, but we cite it merely to show what the tendency points to. Before that time the common people will have realized what a trap they have been led into and there will be a readjustment of things by revolution, if no better way is avail-

It is the worst of pities that the United States should have been inoculated with this virus of plutocracy, brought over from England. It is a scheme of repression inaugurated by a people who have reduced their own laboring classes to the verge of beggary and desperation, and who are reaching out for more worlds to con-quer. In this country it is against the spirit of democracy-against the welfare of the common people-against the fundamental principles of our Government. The cause of silver is the people's cause.

Bowers on Silver.

In his speech before Congress on the 28d inst., in advocacy of the Bland silver bill, Representative Bowers is reported by the Associated Press as thus proclaiming himself:

The attempt to array the two great par-ties one for and the other against free coinage, as they are one for and the other against the tariff, is a failure. It is not a party question. The leading Republican paper of the Pacific Coast, the San Fran-cisco Chronicle, which has no rival in its incisco Chronicie, which has no treat and fluence with the party on the western shore of this continent, and which is the peer of any paper anywhere, advocates free silver. any paper anywhere, advocates free silver. The next Republican paper of influence, THE LOS ANGELES TIMES, published in the district I have the honor to represent, is for free silver.

Again he said: The right to think for one's self is one of The right to think for one's self is one of the glorious privileges of a republican form of government, and I insist that I have as large a right to judge and determine my duty as a Republican as any one has to judge and determine it for me. I do not assume to speak for the Republican party, but for myself as a representative, as seems to me best and for those measures that I deem best, not only for my district, but the whole country.

THE Valley Union, of Murrieta, San Diego county, has the right stuff in it. When the recent crooked bond propo sition was up the Union opposed it with vigor, notwithstanding the fact that it was approached by a tool of the bond schemers and offered a bribe to support the measure. Recently the Union sent in a bill of $22.50 for work done for the county, and the Supervisors cut it down to $11.50—less than the cost of the white paper and the binding, to say nothing of the labor performed. The Union calls this "ar eleven dollar revenge," and says: "We are still away ahead in the game. The satisfaction of knowing that we did all in our power to knock out their per scheme is worth to us just eleven dollars a minute."

THE New York Evening Post, a strong Cleveland paper, has been sued for libe by a Tammany Sachem whom it accused of fixing juries, and in return it gives its opinion of Tammany in very plain terms. After denying that it is a political organization it says: "It is an or-ganization of vice and ignorance for private gain. Its chiefs have no ideas or knowledge about public policy. What they are engaged in is seeing how much money from any source they can put in their pockets without having to go to jail." Let no Republican organization pattern after Tammany.

GRAND OPERAHOUSE .- Mr. and Mrs. Sic nev Drew made their initial appearance i this city at the Grand last night and cre ated a fine impression, although their play That Girl from Mexico, is an extremely weak piece of dramatic construction; still the actors were able to make something out of it by their own inherent force and ability. piece is of the farcewith the accent on the farce, and it served

The piece is of the farce-comedy order, with the accent on the farce, and it served to keep the mercury in the amusement thermometer quite up to the laughing point throughout the entire evening.

Mr. Drew shows a strong family resemblance to his talented mother and her other histrionically bright offspring and has a comedy style of his own that is very clever. He assumes the part of "Jack Randolph" in the play and in the first act does a oit of rapid talking that is convulsively funny.

During the entire time he is on the stage the action of the piece is lively and the laughter almost continuous. His wife, a strikingly graceful brunette beauty, makes a fine foil as "Dlabella Smythe," who is a human Vesuvius from Mexico with much of the intense in her make-up. She carries off the business of the part with great spirit and exhibits some toilets that are very handsome. The company is very good, especially Miss Nita Sykes, a New Yorkish-looking young lady who, as "Fannie Spencer," shows how they do things in the "hupper succles" of society; Nick Long as "Mr. Smythe," and the "Lizzie" of May Thompson, the latter being as ervant with a taste for novels and a wink that would stop a street car. Donald Harold was also very efficient as "Jerry," a tough janitor, and the parts of "Richard Bird" and "Mr. Tulliver" were well taken by William Norris and Norman Campbell respectively.

The best part of the performance was the

by William Norris and Norman Campbell respectively.

The best part of the performance was the playing of In Honor Bound, a one-act drama by Sydney Grundy, which served as a curtain-raiser. It is an immensely clever little bit of play-writing, most cleverly played. It is full of bright dialogue, some good situations, and closes with a strong touch of pathos, revealing the fact that Mr. and Mrs Drew are much more effective as players in a drama of the quiet and subtle sort than in one made up of farce-comedy horseplay. Miss Sykes and Louis Payne also did some good work in this dramatic morecau as "Rose Dairymple" and "Phillip Graham," Mr. and Mrs. Drew taking the parts of "Sir George" and "Lady Carlyon." The same bill tonight.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.—Keppler's Fortunes will be the attraction at the Grand Operahouse March 31 and April 1, with that favorite comedian, Gus Williams, as the star. There are but few now doing this line of work. George S. Knight, who has just passed away, and Gus Williams were the only two that presented a legitimate German character on the stage with any degree of success. The "Baron Rudolph" of George S. Knight and the "Albert Kepler" of Gus Williams stand side by side as faithful studies of German character. In Keppler's Fortunes there is much that is humorous, more that is pathetic and all that is entertaining we are assured.

The house was crowded, and the audience showed the heartlest appreciation of the Swedish hero, and Ben Hendricks was obliged to come before the curtain after every act. several bass solos, Charles J. Stine didsome clever work in grotesque singing and Miss St. George Hussey was heard to advantage in song. The Swedish quartette, made up of ladies, is one of the most pleasant groups of songsters that has ever been heard here. There is a soprano, second soprano, alto and contralto, the latter voice having a most remarkable range."

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

SIMPSON TABERNACLE.—An audience that nearly filled the Simpson Tabernacle was the inspiring sight that met Miss Ellen the inspiring sight that met Miss Ellen Beach Yaw upon the occasion of her final concert here. This young singer's perfect method is nowhere better shown than in the ease and assured grace with which her voice rings out—pure, clear and true, as if belonging to some impersonal spirit rather than to so frail and delicate a body. Miss Yaw's singing possesses all the perfections of an exquisite human mechanism, but her singing has the coldness of all crystal things and leaves the heart untouched. Her selections included Greig's "Sunshine Song," a brilliant aria by David and the aria from Roberto it Diavolo.

Jacob Mueller sang two numbers—"Non

Jacob Mueller sang two numbers—"Non e Ver" and "Alia Stella Confidente"—in the style of the old Italian school and with a certain finish that compensated largely for the inequality of a voice that is past its prime. A quintette consisting of Messra, Romandy, Bierlich, Tomaszewicz, Stamm and Stanzione gave some excellent selections, among which was the now famous "intermezzo" from Mascagni's opera. Miss Letha Lewis recited very prettily three elocutionary bits that were by no means worthy of her or of the audience. Miss Yaw goes at once to New York to resume her studies for another year or two.

POLITICAL POINTS.

It looks as though the bunco steerers and the Democratic campaign committee have pooled their issues. The late census of New York increases the population of the city materially over the Government census, and lessens it in

J. W. Hinton. Ess., City Assessor—Dear Sir: In answer to your question as to whether or not you could list for taxation the personal property of Col. Blanton Duncan, who claims to be a resident of Kentucky and not an inhabitant of the city of Los Angeles, but temporarily sojourning here. I reply:

That you will have to ascertain for yourself the residence of Col. Duncan. If he is a non-resident you cannot list to him any intangible property, such as credits or choses in action, but if you should find any tangible personal property, such as furniture and other chattels, in this city, you can list such property even if he is a non-resident if it belonged to Col. The Railroad Commissioners Return His Communication to Him.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28 .- | By the ssociated Press. | The Board of Railroad Commissioners met today and discussed a communication received from Manager Leeds of the Traffic Association, referring to the request of the board that he file a specific complaint for any matters needing ad judication. He says:

In our organic law there is no prescribe method as to how I shall proceed with your board. Unfortunately, the Traffic Association is unable to invest me with authority to fix rates and fares, as the constitution of the State has done for your board. If so I would not hesitate to perform my duty.

Leeds goes on to say that by the attitude it assumes the board placed itself on the opposite side of the question from the power which created the board by throwing the burden of proof upon others when the board itself should furnish the same.

Commissioner Litchfield moved that the communication be returned to Leeds and this was done. Some discussion between Leeds and members of the board followed, after which the board adjourned.

NEW YORK, March 28.—[By the Associated Press.] Howell Osborne is again in a fair way to carry out his uniquely expressed idea that he comes to this country to take some money out of Wall street. He won a turn or two, which old-timers said was always to be expected from a man who knew nothing but trusted to hazards, but with market, and modest estimates of his profits make them very close on to $250,000. This afternoon he afforded a lot of gossip for speculators by appearing in company with a lady whom he introduced to one of the largest brokerage houses in New street and who has apparently been guiding his who has apparently been guiding his hand in his ventures. No one seemed to know who she was, though all agreed she was not Fay Templeton.

Judge Smith Lays Down the Law.

Much-needed Lesson Administered to Amos Abbott.

> Must Pay $400 or Spend 200 Days in Jail.

Wilful Disobedience of the Process tice Must Not be Trifled

The hearing of the contempt proceed ings against Amos Abbott was resumed before Judge Smith in Department One sterday morning. Amos, it will be membered, was arrested some months , together with Albert Asevado and brother, George Abbott, for the burary of a Chinese drugstore on Marhessault street. He was, however, ac-nitted, and the jury disagreed upon the st trial of his brother, while Asevado as convicted. On Friday, the 18th ast., Amos was subpoenaed by Deputy heriff McIntyre, but when the case gainst his brother, George, came up trial on the 21st inst., the defend nt's counsel, C. C. Stephens, Esq. nance, presumably with the idea of vaiting for the decision of the Supremo court in the Asevado case. In support of this motion an affidavit was filed to of this motion an affidavit was filed to the effect that Amos, a material witness for the defense, was out of the city. Amos's testimony on the former trial having been transcribed the Court promised to allow it to go in, but to this Attorney Stephens objected vigorously and insisted upon a continuance, which was refused. The District Attorney, upon earning that Amos had hired out as a sheep herder to Oscar Macy sheep herder to Oscar Macy id was tending a flock of sheep in the Island of San Clements stained the consent of the Board obtained the consent of the Board of Supervisors to spend a little money in bringing him back, and on Monday night Deputy Sheriff Anderson left San Pedro in a tug, especially chartered for the purpose, and steamed over to the island, where he arrested the defaulting witness and brought him back. He was cited to appear and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court in having disobeyed the process of the court, and on Thursday last he appeared before Judge Smith and stated that he went over to the island because he had been threatened and stated that he went overto the island because he had been threatened with arrest if he did not do so, as he had drawn down $10 of his wages in advance. This, however, was denied emphatically by S. C. Hubbell, Esq. the agent for Oscar Macy. Yesterday morning Deputy Sheriff McIntyre testified to having served Amos with the subpoena on Friday evening, the 18th inst. The defendant and his wife, Georgie abbott, then testified as to inst. The defendant and his wife, Georgie Abbott, then testified as to their, family being destitute and needing the money which he was to receive for working on the island. Amos, in response to questions put by the court, denied that C. C. Stephens, Esq., his brother's attorney, knew anything about his going away, and insisted that he went of his own voittion. At the close of the testimony C. C. Stephens, Esq., suggested to the court in mitigation of the offense that the family of Amos Abbott was absolutely desily of Amos Abbott was absolutely destitute and made a brief but eloquent a; pear for legiency, after which Judgo Smith said:

a pea; for leaiency, after which Judgo. Smith said:

There is no doubt about that in the mind of the court. That is the saddest part of the whole business; it is the worst feature in most of these matters where the law arrests parties in their wrong-doing that they have wives or little children dependent upon them, unfortunately. But this is all the more reason why they should behave themselves.

Now, I cannot help thinding that you, Amos Abbott, went off for the very purpose of laying a foundation for a continuance of your brother's case. If this had been simply a matter upon your part of wanting a little money, and you had taken chances on the court sending after you, no person would have gone further towards the merciful side of the question than I. At the same-time I would not have allowed any disobedience of the process or this court, and it cannot and will not be tolerated. You were subposned on Friday afternoon. The trial of your brother's case was coming up on the following Monday. There had been one trial and you were here as a witness, and knew all about it. You certainly ought to take a natural interest in your brother's case, and it would seem to be an extraordinary proposition of itself (yet it might occur) that you would allow the trial to goon and not give him the beneut of your testimony. The evidence in the former trial had all been taken in shorthand, and the court proposed to give the defendant the beneut of it, but counsel refused to accept that and insisted upon a continuance. Biling an amidavit based upon your absence.

fused to accept that and insisted upon a continuance, dling an affidavit based upon your absence.

Putting these things all together I cannot shut my eyes to the tact that there was an understanding that you should go away and that your absence should be made the basis for a continuance of the case. Regarding it thus, it is a most serious proposition. If the time has come in the history of our jurisprudence in Southern California when this kind of thing can be perpetrated and passed off upon the courts it is about time to call a halt. I dislike to be severe; how much you cannot know; but I will permit no man, nor set of men, to trifle with the process of this court.

I appreciate the fact that an attorney should take an interest in his client's case, and that the field is open for the use of all honorable means for its presentation in the best possible light—all honorable means. That is his right, but beyond that an attorney is not called upon togo.

In this matter I ordered an attachment for this man. The defense did not see fit to ask for one, because it did not want him, but desired a continuance more than anything else.

I ordered an attachment for this man to ask for one, because it did not want him, but desired a continuance more than anything else.

I ordered an attachment for this man and he was brought in here at an expense of $150 to this county, but I think it was money well expended.

When the process of this court is obstructed by acts like this I want it distinctly understood that if it were within the bounds of possibility and were necessary I would send a steamer to the Sandwich Islands. There is no power so great, no plot so cunning or subtle that shall be able to overcome the process of the courts. That is the way in which I feel about it.

This is the position in which you are, young man. You knew all about this business, and knew your duty, as this is not your first appearance in court.

Amos Abbott, you have been called upon to show cause why you should not be punished for contempt of court in having disobeyed the prucess of this court. Upon the fles, papers and evidence here it appears to the Court that you have wilfully disobeyed that process, and that you are guilty of contempt.

It is the judgment of the Court that you pay a fine of $400, and that in default of payment thereof you be confined in the County Jail at the rate of one day's imprisonment for every $2 of said fine until the same be paid.

THE ALLIANCE AND BANKS.

Business Cannot be Transacted With a Wheat Currency.

Nor Can We Go Back to the Iron Money of Lycurgus-A Brief Financi Treatise by Judge R. M. Widney,

Banking with proper limitations and safeguards is a necessity in modern civilization. The affairs of society cannot be conducted without it. None of the financial schemes proposed by the Alliances will furnish a substitute or even meet the wants and necessities of the farmers alone.

They provide no available method for short-time loans. A loan through the sub-treasury implies a crop of corn. tobacco, cotton, etc., planted, cultivated, harvested and stored. But where under this system will the farmer get a sixty or ninety-day loan to use while planting or harvesting his crop? He cannot pledge his growing crop to the sub-treasury, and cannot get a commercial loan of the sub-treasury prior to the deposit of the harvested crop.

The land loan scheme will not meet the case for these sbort loans. All tenant farmers would be out. The cost of a small short loan on land would make the interest really reach 10 per cent. or more in cost of abstract, filing, papers, release, etc. Again, fruit-farmers and stock-raisers could get no loans from the sub-treasury. In fact, none of the rural population except those raising a few specified products could store them and get a loan. What would be the result? Every farmer would raise those products, overproduction would glut the market and the market price of those articles would fall so low that the loan ob tained thereon from the sub-treasury would not pay the cost of production. A greater evil would be wrought against all merchants and manuagainst all merchants and manufacturers by destroving all banking systems. Merchants buy goods with an agreement that if paid for in thirty or sixty days' time there shall be a discount of 10 per cent. or over. If the merchant can borrow for thirty or sixty days of a bank he saves this 10 per cent. on all sales for the thirty to sixty days. In a year's time this aggregates about 40 per cent. on sales. The farmer and all-purchasers from stores get the benefit of this discount. If there were no banks these short loans could not be had, and the extra 10 per cent. would have to be paid by the consumer.

The merchant might refuse credit The merchant might refuse credit and force his customers to pay cash. But here the farmer would again suffer. He now runs his bills at the store and is carried until after crops are harvested and sold. Why? Because the bank carries the merchant with short loans in the meantime, without land or other security, except his honesty and business ability. In this way by the banking system the farmer gets, as the basis of his credit, that vast security known as business credit, based on the honesty and ability of the merchant.

industry; that the demand for all farming machinery will be very great. They must manufacture the supply beforehand to have it ready. This involves the use of millions of dollars in small sums as needed to pay for material and to pay for daily labor.

All these costs must be carried by the manufacturer until he sells his stock of goods. The banks loan him money on thirty, sixty and ninety days' time on his honesty and ability as security. This security is not available in any Alliance plan, and is impracticable except under the banking scheme. Why? Because the individual banker, as a fundamental part of his business, makes it his duty to become personally and per cent. more than at present.

Their 2 per cent. sub-treasury loans would never make them even on this loss. Better stay where you are, or better still, broaden your views of justice and right, and not try to einch others.

tice and right, and not try to cinch others.

We are all in the same body politic, and when any one does any cinching he of necessity cinches himself or one of the body politic so cinched.

Had it not been for the banks during the past twenty years collecting the revenue money and loaning it to the community the whole country would today be financially paralyzed.

Scatter the money now in banks back into the hands of its private sweers, and there would not be $1 to loan where there are now hundreds. Why? For many reasons. The money would be in too small sums in the hands of the owners. It would be impossible to find all the owners. They are so scatthe owners. It would be impossible to find all the owners. They are so scattered that they are not generally well enough acquainted with the honesty and ability of the borrowers to loan on individual security.

Destroy the banks and every owner of money would be the unprotected victim of robbery.

He would have to do as of old—secrete his money in some hole in the ground his money in some hole in the ground.

He would have to do as of old—secrete his money in some hole in the ground or secret drawer in his house. He would wake up in the night only to see masked faces and the deadly knife. He would walk out bound and gagged, and under the influence of a slow fire roasting his feet or other torture he would disclose the secret place of his stored money. If the robbers feared that he could identify them his friends would find his body with throat cut from ear to ear. "Dead men tell no tales." The closing comment of bystanders would be, "Why did not the old fool put his money in some bank!" Why? Because the Alliance killed off all the banks.

I remember in my boyhood days in killed off all the banks.

I remember in my boyhood days in the West, before banks were available, that the foregoing were not unusual occurrences. Many a time have I heard these stories recounted around my father's farmhouse fireplace until terror would pervade the entire group.

Millions of dollars have been spent in perfecting banking safes and vaults against robbers. Millions are today invested by banks in their appliances for safety.

Will the farmers, when banks are destroyed, each erect his fire-proof vault and ouy his burglar-proof safe to store his money? A good burglar-proof safe costs as much as an ordinary farm; from $2500 to $10,000. Many banks have as high as $100,000 invested in such as high as $100,000 invested in such appliances, a sum large enough to buy a whole ranch.

Again, these banks can only be safe in cities. If located in the country or small communities they are no protection against being "held up," as has been the case with many Western or frontier banks. One bank in New Mexico today is a bullet proof arsenal, so arranged that only one customer at a time can get access to the counter, at a spot where he is under cover of a Winchester, shotgun and revolver. Farmers, with the banks killed off; and their stockings full of gold or greenbacks, would have about as much under such conditions as the famous would have in the regions of feather ternal fire.

It seems incredible that intelligent people could be led into such a danger-ous error as to demand the destruction of a proper banking system. It evokes the suspicion that some of the leaders of the Alliances are either ignorant or that, in hope of being elected to office, they cater to a thoughtless demand of the people. In either event they are leading the Alliances into greater dangers than they are proposing to lead them out of the people. hem out of.

It is for the above, among other reasons, that I have provided a system of safe banking under national laws for the benefit of the people in my "Proposed National Money System." It avoids the damaging powers of banks and preserves their beneficial elements, in the interest of all the people. I come in the interest of all the people. I com-mend its study to the Alliances and rec-ommend that they refuse to be led into the financial "Crater of Petersburg" by leaders who thoughtlessly or otherwise would urge them on. Open your eyes and see what is just and right to all of your fellow-men as well as yourselves.

Assert your Americanism and refuse to deliver yourself bound hand and foot by party pledges and traps to any set of leaders. Demand of your leaders that they study out an honest, just, complete, equitable, sufficient money system or abdicate as dangerous incompetents. Legitimate banking, propchant.

Where do the Alliances provide to utilize this security in any of their systems? They propose to destroy it. Their plan against banks should be denominated "A plan to destroy certain securities and raise prices."

Again, the manufacturing industries are compelled to utilize their commercial credit with banks for short loans.

To illustrate: The manufacturers of industry. The Alliances and trades unions are simply trusts or combines. All trusts or combines should have their dangerous exercises of powers removed to live and operate so long the comment of the comme and allowed to live and operate so long as they used their powers for the com-mon good. The great motive power of the Alliance and its leaders and of Con-

the Alliance and its leaders and of Congress is justice to all. Let all aid in this solution of the question without fear or favor or selfishness.

The error of the Alliances is paralelled by a question asked me by an intelligent banker. He said, "Judge Widney, if your financial plan is adopted, and interest falls to 3 per cent., what will become of the banks? They cannot make expenses." The answer is: If this plan is adopted there will be at least three times the present volume of active circulation. The deposits in banks will be three times as this duty to become personally and socially acquainted with the character of the man, and from his long acquainted ance risks these loans.

Strike this out under the Alliance schemes, and all farming machinery activity in all industries. Securities

THE SALES IN THE CLOAK DEPARTMENT from January 1, 1892, up to and including the sales of March 26, 1892, were larger than entire sales of the Cloak Department from January 1, 1891, up to and including sales of September 19, 1891, and the sales in the Cloak Department last year greatly exceeded the sales of the previous year. The sales in the Corset and Muslin Underwear Department is fully 25 per cent. larger than the same period last year. The gain in the sales of the entire house up to March 26, 1892, is fully as large as the entire gain made last year over the previous year, and the gain last year over the previous year was quite large. The gain last week over the sales of one year ago was fully 33 per cent.

J. T. SHEWARD. Subscribed and sworn to before me this 28th [SEAL] day of March, A. D. 1892.

G. G. JOHNSON, Notary Public in and for the County of Los Angeles, State of California.

There is one thing that has largely brought about this result; every employee in this house is on their mettle to see who can give the greatest satisfaction in waiting upon the trade—polite attention, good treatment, quick to respond to all demands of the customers whether they wish to purchase or not, and a general desire in every way to render better satisfaction than any other house in the city. This, with larger and more complete stocks, newer and better styles, a closer intimacy between proprietor and employees, each studying the interest and the wishes of the other, has placed the house in the first rank, showing the largest gain ever made by a dry goods house in this city. We want your good will; we would like your patronage,

BOW

Dr. Woh takes this opportunity to announce to his many patrons that, having been suddenly summoned to China, he has turned over his patients and practice to Dr. Bow, his brother graduate and successor. Dr. Bow is a graduate of one of the leading medical colleges of China, and for seven years has been an exceptionally successful practitioner in San Francisco.

Los Angeles, Feb. 23, 1892.

I gladly certify that after but a brief treatment of my sickness Dr. Bow has taken me from my sic bed and made a well man of me. My disease consisted of liver and kidney trouble in a very severe form.

Do the People Want to Hear Emms Juch in Carmen?

Annual Inspection of Company B-Not from Hotel San Gabriel-Teachers' Institute-Brevities and Personal Items of Interest,

[Branch office, No. 50 East Colorado street where news, advertisements and orders fo THE TIMES are received.]

A party of water directors, composed of W. U. Masters and B. M. Watkyns, of the Pasadena Land and Water Company, and C. C. Brown, John Allin, F. D. Stevens and C. M. Parker, of the Lake Vineyard Com-pany, drove to Devil's Gate yesterday after-neon to inspect the operations there in progress looking to a material development of the present supply.

The result of the visit was highly satis-factory. A tunnel about six feet square has been dug in a northeasterly direction from what has heretofore constituted the chie source of the supply a distance of nearly 300 feet. This has resulted in a surprising increase in the supply, which a conserva-tive estimate places at from sixty to seventy tive estimate places at from sixty to seventy miner's inches. Protected by rubber boots, rubber overcoats and rubber hats, the party made its way into the tunnel, walking on a plank in the center of a narrow-gauge road that extends along the line of operations. Part of the way the plank is immersed in water, so strong is the issuing current. At a depth of about 200 feet a second tunnel has been started, running in a northwesterly direction, which is expected to develop important results.

A complete inspection of the work convinced all present that the water problem has been solved and that an ample supply will be easily obtainable from this source to meet all the requirements of the town for years to come.

JUCH IN CARMEN. As stated yesterday, if a sumcient sum is guaranteed the Juch opera company will appear in Camma at the Pasadena Operahouse on Saturday evening next. Subscription lists have been placed at J. W. Wood's, Botel Green, the Raymond and at Suesserott's, where those who wish tickets can leave their orders. The next two days will be sufficient to determine whether or not the necessary number can be sold.

will be sufficient to determine whether or not the necessary number can be sold. It is to be hoped that this effort of the operahouse management to bring an attraction of this kind to Pasadena will meet with a generous patronage, so that they may be encouraged to continue on in the same line. Miss Juch is a star of the first magnitude and the supporting company is highly spoken of. If they come here Carmen will be given with the full strength of the company and will be complete in scenic effects and other details. Those who wish tickets are requested to call today at one of the places above mentioned so that a proper estimate of the audience may be made. This is a musical treat which the people cannot afford to miss.

A LECTURE ON MAHOMET.

Judge Utley (not Reverend) concluded his lecture on Mahomet Sunday evening at the Universalist Church. He followed the prophet of Islam from the time he abandoned his peaceful policy and took up the sword and began to make conquests, through the ploody weapons of warfare, to the end of a long career which established a mighty kingdom, representing 250,000,000 of people today. The lecturer declared Mahomet to be a greater commander than Cassar, Cromwell or Napoleon. He said Mohammedanism was the only religion that taught and enforced absolute prohibition from intoxicants. He claimed that Mahomet was not an impostor, but a religious zealot. Judge Utley held the close attention of his large audience for over an hour. PASADENA BREVITIES

The City Treated to a Nice Rain Sunday Afternoon.

Small Fruits Very Favorable-An-nual Meeting of the First Presbyterian Church.

The city was treated to a nice shower of rain yesterday, which brightened up the trees, flowers and fields as if they had received a fresh coat of coloring. While the rainfall has been rather light this season, there has been enough to brighten up the faces af the orchardists and farmers and enough to make the cranky old prophets take a back seat. The outlook for strawberries and other small fruits was never better, and, in fact, no one can complain of the prospects for any and all crops. The Pomona Valley is not a bad place to live in, anyway, even if you do have to dodge the Constables to keep from being caught on a jury and have a little internal discussion occasionally. There is one thing we are all united on, and that is that we want to see Pomona a prosperous, big city. The thing we differ on is the best way of getting there. We don't believe there is any resident of the city who wants to pull it down. The city was treated to a nice shower of

Everybody regrets the removal from this city of the National Hose Coupling Company to Los Augeles. Archie Thompson, secretary of the company, said yesterday: "There is great advantage in removing to a city like Los Angeles. In the matter of freight alone there is a great saving. For instance to Texas points we can save 50 cents a hundred, and that is only one example." The plant is already being moved. Two Pomona gentlemen are still working hard to get control of the cannery at this point, although arrangements are not yet completed. FAILED TO SETTLE HER HOTEL BILL Beating hotels, restaurants or lodging-houses has become a serious offense, as most people who do much traveling are aware, but a woman from Los Angeles registering as Mrs. M. Howard at one of Santa Ana's hotels Sunday, succeeded in running a game of bluff on the proprietor and finally left the city yesterday without paying for her room and only in part for the eatibles she obtained in one of the down-town chop-houses. She openly declared that she had money, and plenty of it, but that she did not have to pay for what she got unless she wanted to, and she wasn't going to, "so there now!" At a down-town chop-house she ordered a souare meal, but refused to pay more than 15 cents for it. While at another chop-house she became infuriated at the proprietor of the hotel for having sent word to the chop-house man to beware of his customer, and thereupon declared her intention of not paying him I cent for being ro impudent and intertering with a woman's business. She left on the next train without settling any portion of her hotel bill. Beating hotels, restaurants or lodging-

HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

An Interesting Open Meeting at Don Antonio Coronel's.

The Session Devoted to Securing Data the Women's Clubs and Societies of Los A geles-Thirty Organi. zations Represented.

It has been well said that this is a clubable age-particularly among the gentler sex. You wouldn't believe that Los Angeles had thirty clubs and societies, all distinctively feminine, would you? It's a fact though, and every one of those ladies' organizations was represented and a sketch of its history given last evening at the special open meeting of the Historical Society at Don Antonio Coronel's. Why, judging from the number and personnel of the crowd present every woman in this city who lays the slightest claim to social recognition is a member of some club There are charitable clubs, philanthropic clubs, literary clubs, art clubs, collegiate clubs, musical clubs, commercial clubs, temperance clubs, and the Friday Morning Club. the Friday Morning Club.

This idea of gathering them all together originated in the brain of a woman, too, Mrs. M. Burton Williamson, one of the three active lady members of the Historical Society. She proposed to collect data of all the women's clubs and societies in Los Angeles to be preserved in the archives of the Historical Society. After the work of collecting reports had begun it was suggested that an evening be set aside for a special meeting of the Historical Society and all these reports read. Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Coronel, with characteristic hospitality, offered to throw open the doors of their spacious mansion, corner of Seventh street and Central avenue, for this meeting, and thither last bers of the Historical Society. ner of Seventh street and Central avenue, for this meeting, and thither last evening repaired a throng of people. The house had been beautifully decorated with flowers for the occasion, and the reception-rooms held many interesting curios in the way of beautiful Spanish draperies, cabinets of wax figures typical of Mexican life, etc. A suite of rooms on the second floor was provided with chairs, and here the formal exercises on the second floor was provided with chairs, and here the formal exercises occurred, Prof. Ira More, president of the Historical Society, presiding. It is perhaps a well-known fact that there is a strong movement on foot tothere is a strong movement on foot to-ward the preservation of the old Mis-sions of Southern California. This movement originated with the Histor-ical Society, and an effort will be made at once to carry it into effect. The preservation of these historic land-marks is of the utmost impor-tance, not only from an artistic and his-torical sense, but from a well—a finatorical sense, but from a-well-a financial point of view. These old missions afford more attraction to tourists than our orange orenards. America isn't noted particucularly as a country of ruins and antiquities anyway, and, therefore, what few relics she does possess in this line should be jealously guarded. The railroad companies wil probably be sufficiently interested in their preservation to assist in this work, thousands of tourists every year visit the missions.

C. P. Dorland last evening gave a most interesting talk on this subject il-lustrated by stereopticon views. An excursion to San Juan Capistrano was planned, and the outcome of this energetic movement on the part of the Historical Society will be watched with interest.

Fully 300 people were present last evening, and the old-time Californian hospitality had full sway at the hands of Don Coronel and his good lady.

All women who are overworked, "rur down," or debilitated, need just one medicin—and that is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It's a broad statement, but facts bea it out. These are the facts:

If you're a weak and delicate woman, then the "Favorite Prescription" builds you up; if you suffer from any of the painful disorders and derangements poculiar to your sex, it relieves and cures. It invigorates the system, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and strength. All the chronic weaknesses, irregularities, and disturbances known as "female complaints" are completely and permanently cured by it.

These are facts, and they're strong enough to warrant the makers in guaranteeing their remedy. If it fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back. No other medicine for women is sold on such terms. That proves that nothing else can be "just as good." If you're a weak and delicate woman, then be "Favorite Prescription" builds you up

The work in the City Assessor's office is being somewhat delayed by the tardiness of property-holders in sending in their statements, as required by law. By promptly sending in these statements not only will the work be greatly facilitated, but the expense will be very considerably reduced. Sunday and Sunday night the drinking wing of this city must have turned loose, for the Police Court dock was crowded with a sorry-looking lot of hobos and dudes. His Honor was not feeling as happy as he might after a long week's rest, so he put on his most savage frown and gave the gang from two to fifty days on the chain-gang.

DAVIS, THE PICKPOCKET, COVICTED. Charles D. Davis, the notorious pick pocket, appeared before Judge Smith yesterday morning for trial upon the charge of grand larceny preferred against him. Assistant District Attor-ney McComas appeared for the prosecu-tion, the defendant being represented by W. W. Holcomb. Esq.

tion, the defendant being represented by W. W. Holcomb, Esq.

The following witnesses were called for the prosecution: W. Luckenbach, S. N. Sheets, Chief of Police J. M. Glass, Officer J. Maguire and Clerk R. E. Cottle. Their testimony was to the effect that the defendant on March 4 last boarded an electric car crowded with passengers at the Arcade depot and was seen to pick the pocket of a lady and extract therefrom a purse containing $5, his hand being deftly hidden by a black overcoat which hung loosely on his wrist. Davis, who was arrested here for a similar offense on February 20, 1891, but forfeited his $300 ball a few days later, was recognized, and few days later, was recognized, and when he left the car at the Westminster Hotel he was followed by a detect ive and arrested. The defendant on taking the stand on his own behalf stoutly denied the accu-sation, and swore the purse was his own property, and his counsel, in ar-guing his case, made the point that the prosecution had failed to produce the woman who lost the purse.

The jury, however, to whom the matter was submitted at 4:80 o'clock, returned a verdict of guilty, four minutes later, whereupon the Court ordered the defendant to appear for sentence on
